U.S., Iran clash in the Persian Gulf

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—American forces destroyed two of Iran's Persian Gulf oil platforms Monday, sank or damaged four attack boats and disabled two frigates that fired missiles at American planes, U.S. officials reported.

The American attack was ordered early Monday by President Reagan in retaliation to a mine blast that ripped open the hull of an American frigate and injured 10 crewmen last week.

"These actions were taken in response to Iran's recent assumption of mine laying in international waters and its mine attack (Thursday) on the USS (frigate) Samuel B. Roberts . . . The government of Iran has repeatedly been warned about the consequences of such hostile acts," said White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater in a Monday press conference.

Iranian naval forces responded with attacks on Arab oil facilities; U.S., British and Cypriot commercial vessels, and on a helicopter chartered by the NBC television network.

Reactions are mixed to President Reagan's order Monday for U.S. warships to attack two Iranian oil platforms in retaliation to last week's mine explosion that tore a hole in an American frigate and injured 10 sailors.

U.S. Representative Terry Bruce, D-Olney, was not only scepticle of the attack, but of American involvement in the Persian Gulf.

"What is disturbing is we don't know why we are in the Persian Gulf. The whole thing is escalating, but we haven't written a policy that tells us why we're there."

"Secretary Shultz should be trying to work out an end to the war so we can get out of the Persian Gulf. All of these aggressive acts just gets us deeper in that war," Bruce said.

Damage inflicted on Iran was extensive. American forces destroyed two of Iran's oil platforms in the Persian Gulf and damaged or sank four attack boats and disabled two frigates.

attacks on Arab oil facilities; U.S., British and Cypriot commercial vessels, and on a helicopter chartered by the NBC television network. No American casualties were reported.

Dan Hockman, a military history professor at Eastern, said he supports Reagan's order to retaliate against the Iranians.

"The gulf area is international waters and any country has access to move in there. When the Iranians placed the mines there, they were carrying out an Carlucci said a Cobra attack helicopter with two crewmen was late in returning to a Navy cruiser and a search had begun.

Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, in a dispatch Monday night, said Iranian warships "in a heroic clash with the agressor American helicopters in the Persian Gulf shot down one of them Monday afternoon."

The agency, monitored in Britian and Cyprus, did not elaborate.

Congressional leaders said Monday Reagan was fully justified in retaliating against Iran for placing mines in international waters.

"The mines have been clearly identified as manufactured by the Iranians and sown in the waters by the Iranians," said Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va. "The Iranians were carrying out terrorist acts . . . I support the decision the destroy the oil (drilling) platforms."

WEIU denied airing of television series

By CRAIG EDWARDS
Administration editor

Viewers of WEIU-TV, Channel 51, will be able to watch the television show Combat this May, but they won't be able to see The Untouchables.

The Board Of Governors, Eastern's governing body, voted in an unanimous decision Thursday against The Untouchables series which portrays U.S. Treasury agents in an ongoing battle against the Chicago mob underworld, specifically Italian-Americans, during the Prohibition era.

The BOG did, however, approve Combat, a 1960 television series depicting combat experiences of a platoon in Europe during World War II. It will air from 8 to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, beginning May 1.

The Untouchables was scheduled to air from 10:30 to 11:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, also beginning May 1. WEIU will continue airing "Film Classic Theatre" during the time slot that was set aside for The Untouchables.

Despite the unanimous veto of the series, Dominick Bufalino was the only board member who expressed objections to the series, even though he admitted he has never seen it.

"I have found that the show is too violent," Bufalino said Monday. "I just know that when the program was introduced in the 60's it created havoc."

However, Bufalino said the fact that he is an Italian-American did influence his decision.

Ron Messina, BOG vice chancellor, agreed with Bufalino's objections to the series. "Some people may view The Untouchables in a negative light," Messina said Monday.

He said the difference between The Untouchables and Combat is because there is a greater acceptance of violence when it is associated with war.

John Beabout, WEIU-TV director, who selected the series for the campus station, said Monday he is disappointed the BOG didn't approve the request. "But one series isn't going to make or break our operation," he added.

Eastern President Stan Rives sought BOG approval of the series and included the $23,650 television film license agreement in his April purchase requests.

The BOG did, however, approve a $23,712 purchase request for Combat.

Beabout explained the alternatives available to WEIU are limited because of the station's budget because a small station like WEIU-TV has a limited set of choices when it comes to syndicated programming. "A lot of the popular shows are totally out of our ballpark," he said.

Beabout said he surveys students and community residents when considering a new program. "We also look for major corporations or local businesses to underwrite our programs," he said.

"All of the feedback on The Untouchables was positive," Beabout said.

BHE investigating 2 UPI lawsuits

CRAIG EDWARDS
Administration editor

The Illinois Education Labor Review Board is currently investigating two unfair labor practice charges filed by an Eastern professor against the faculty union, the University Professionals of Illinois, Local 4100.

Jerry Janes, an education administration professor and a member of UPI, filed the charges April 7. Both charges accuse UPI of illegally restraining the rights of non-members.

The suits involve several labor practices," Janes said. The first charge alleges the union restricted input on the shaping of the contract proposal to union members only. Janes filed a second charge that contests UPI's practice of conducting meetings to modify contract proposals, which are restricted to campus buildings and union members.

John Rearden, acting president of UPI Local 4100, said he is meeting with a representative from the IELRB Tuesday to discuss the charges.

"No non-members have been excluded from the process," Rearden said Monday, adding that he doesn't know why Janes has filed the charges.

Robert Perkovich, executive director of the Illinois Education Labor Review Board, said Janes' charges allege that UPI has violated Section 14 of the Illinois Education Labor Act.

The act states: "Employee organizations, their agents or representatives or educational employees are prohibited from restraining or coercing employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed under this Act."

Perkovich said the first step in determining if the UPI is guilty of the charges is to conduct a field investigation.

Demjanjuk guilty in war crime

JERUSALEM (AP)—Retired Ohio autoworker John Demjanjuk was convicted Monday of Nazi war crimes by an Israeli court that said there was no doubt he was "Ivan the Terrible," a death camp guard who ran gas chambers that killed 850,000 Jews.

The three-judge court convicted Demjanjuk of the four counts against him as he listened to the guilty verdict from a cot in a cell next to the courtroom. Six police officers had carried him there feet first after he said he was unable to sit down because of a back injury.

He was the second person to be convicted of war crimes in Israel. Adolf Eichmann, architect of Adolf Hitler's "Final Solution" for the extermination of European Jewry, was hung in 1962, the only person to have been executed in Israel's 40-year history.

The Ukrainian-born Demjanjuk, who lived in suburban Cleveland before his extradition to Israel in 1986, could face the death penalty when he is sentenced April 25. Observers said it was more likely he would receive a life prison term.

"We determine decisively and without hesitation or doubt that the accused John Demjanjuk who is on trial before us, is Ivan, known as 'Ivan the Terrible,' the operator of gas chambers," said presiding Judge Dov Levine.

Defense attorneys have said they would appeal the verdict, which came after the court spent 11 hours reading the 450-page summation. Before it was announced, Demjanjuk's attorney and relatives said they expected a conviction.

Hostage hopes demands are met

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—A man identified as a member of Kuwait's royal family spoke Monday from the hijacked Kuwaiti jetliner and he said he hoped his government yields to the gunmen's demands to end the two-week ordeal.

Most of the brief radio message from the man the hijackers said was Fadel Khaled Al'Sabah was impossible to understand, except for the part about their demand that Kuwait free 17 pro-Iranian prisoners convicted in the 1983 attacks on the U.S. and French embassies in the Persian Gulf sheikdom.

"I hope that Kuwait releases all the prisoners," the man said, speaking in Arabic in a feeble, halting voice. Kuwaiti officials insist they will not give in to the hijackers, who killed two Kuwaiti passengers.

Three of the approximately 35 people still aboard the Kuwait Airways Boeing 747 that was hijacked April 5 are distant relatives of the emir of Kuwait. Two of those relatives are women.

Hostages released earlier have said Al'Sabah is in worse condition than any of the other hostages aboard the jet, describing him as "the most psychologically broken down" and suffering from a stomach ailment.

When the message was read on the plane's radio about 3:10 p.m.

(10:10 a.m. EDT), the control tower had trouble understanding it.

"It was not very clear. Could he try to way it once more?" the control tower said in English.

"No, because he doesn't want to speak, but I want to confirm that he is one of the royal family, he is Fadel Al'Sabah," a hijacker responded in English.

Radio conversations Monday made no reference to refueling the plane or leaving Algeria. On Saturday, the gunmen said they wanted fuel to fly elsewhere and commit a "massacre," but Sunday they said they would give Algeria more time to seek a solution. No deadline was announced.

New lotto to offer bigger jackpots

CHICAGO (AP)—The odds of winning a multi-million dollar Lotto jackpot will become even more astronomical next month as part of an overhaul designed to generate bigger jackpots and boost sagging sales, Illinois Lottery officials said Monday.

Lottery Director Sharon Sharp also announced that the current Lotto 7 game will be scrapped next month and replaced June 1 with a new game, Cash 5, featuring smaller cash jackpots to be awarded in three drawings each week.

"We think that these two new games . . . will put Illinois on the right track again," she said at a news conference. "We really think there's a game for everyone right now."

Beginning May 7, players in the Saturday night Lotto drawing will have to pick six numbers from 1 to 54. Currently, they pick six numbers from 1 to 44. Players will still get two picks for $1.

Write-in campaign announced

By BILL LOOBY
Government editor

John Ward, a junior economics major, confirmed Monday he is beginning a write-in campaign to challenge Board of Governors representative Mike Riordan in the race for Student Body President.

"I think student government is a farce," Ward said. He added said student government makes promises they don't keep.

"This isn't Russia," Ward said, saying students need a choice.

Ward said he said he wasn't interested (in student body president) at first, but when he found out Riordan was running unopposed, he decided to act.

Ward said he was running as an independent. He said he just wanted to offer an alternative to Riordan for the Student Body Presidency.

"Apathy is a major problem on campus," he said. He could not offer solutions to the problem but he did say he had some ideas.

Mike Riordan, candidate for Student Body President, announced tentative plans for a presidential cabinet to be utilized by the executive branch if he is elected Wednesday.

It's ROTC week!

talion Cmdr. Reid Webber and former Battalion Cadet Cmdr. Eric Niksch.

Rives' presentation kicks off ROTC week

By JEFF MADSEN

Eastern President Stan Rives presented the ROTC battalion leaders Monday with a proclamation signed by Gov. James R. Thompson declaring April 18-22 as Army ROTC Week for Illinois public colleges and universities with ROTC programs.

"I'm very pleased we have the program (Army ROTC) here at Eastern because it provides significant financial aid and the possibility of a career option for those interested," Rives said after the presentation. "The whole concept of a citizens' army is very important to this country."

Lt. Col. Lloyd McCammon, a military science professor and battalion commander for Eastern's ROTC unit, said cadets will spend the entire week doing military-related activities to promote the awareness of Eastern's program.

"The main thing we want to do is stimulate the awareness and credibility of ROTC at Eastern," McCammon said. "ROTC has been intertwined with America's universities since early in the 19th century."

Throughout the week, ROTC cadets will compete for 25 ROTC scholarships, which pay tuition and fees for the rest of the cadet's undergraduate education, through physical aptitude and officers' battery tests. Cadets are also expected to construct a rope-bridge on the Library Quad and will do rappelling exercises from the top of O'Brien Stadium Thursday.

On Wednesday morning, cadets will raise the American flag in front of Old Main at 7:30 a.m. and lower it at 4:30 p.m. A bugler will play at both flag raising ceremonies.

Hamerlinck's attorney asks that evidence gathered be repressed

Dukakis predicts victory

By JEFF McCOMBS
Staff writer

The attorney representing Timothy Hamerlinck, accused of allegedly hitting two Eastern pedestrians, has filed a motion asking for all statements and evidence, including a breathalyzer test, to be suppressed.

Nolan Lipsky, Hamerlinck's attorney, has asked for all evidence to be suppressed, saying Charleston Police officers did not possess an arrest warrant when Hamerlinck was arrested on Feb. 17.

Hamerlinck's jury trial was set for April 19, but now will be delayed until a suppression hearing is held. Hamerlinck pled not guilty at his preliminary hearing March 7.

Lipsky said the suppression hearing would be held sometime in May.

Hamerlinck allegedly struck Stephen White, 19, and Betty Jo Lotz, 18, as they were walking on the bicycle path in the 1700 block of Fourth Street.

Lotz and White were said to be walking south on Fourth Street when they were hit from behind by Hamerlinck.

Hamerlinck was arrested at about 6 a.m. Feb. 17 at Regency Apartments after police found his Ford Mustang in Regency parking lot with a broken signal light cover. Pieces of the cover were found at the accident.

Hamerlinck is being charged on two counts of driving under the influence of alcohol and one count of leaving the scene of an accident involving personal injury or death.

Mike Novak, assistant states attorney, said a warrant is not needed for an arrest, only probable cause that the person arrested committed the crime.

Lipsky also is seeking for any evidence gathered when police searched Hamerlinck's Ford Mustang to be suppressed.

NEW YORK (AP)—Micheal Dukakis predicted Monday he would post a "great victory" in the New York primary that would place him firmly on the road to the Democratic presidential nomination, but Jesse Jackson and Albert Gore Jr. exhorted their supporters to deliver a poll-defying upset.

In its final 24 hours, the campaign was nothing if not blunt. New York Mayor Ed Koch, a Gore supporter who has sharply criticized Jackson in recent days, was branded a "lunatic" by Jackson's campaign manager.

Dukakis, the leader in all the pre-election polls, steered well clear of the Jackson-Gore-Koch hostilities.

"Just don't forget to vote tomorrow," the Massachusetts governor told an audience in Buffalo as he barnstormed through the final day of a costly, contentious primary campaign marked by racial and religious divisions.

Jackson, running second to Dukakis in the polls, staged three get-out-the-vote rallies in soggy Harlem. "If you will stand in the rain today you will vote in the rain tomorrow. ...We've come too close; nothing can stop us now," he said.

Spokesman submits resignation to avoid hurting company image

NEW YORK (AP)—After admitting he put words in President Reagan's mouth while serving him as White House spokesman, Larry Speakes has lost his job as chief spokesman for Merrill Lynch &

The popular assumption for the resignation from the securities is that such an admission would make less credible his future statements on its behalf, and perhaps tarnish its image as well.

But creating statements for the top guy has long tradition in the world of business. It is practiced every day without exception, and it is likely to continue in practice. It has been used to protect the inarticulate chairman, to promote an image that is inconsistent with the facts, to impress viewers and listeners.

Public relations executives regularly issue statements they attribute to the chief, but which they themselves drafted and "sold" to the executive before issuing to the media.

Few chief executives write their own speeches. Seldom do they sit at a typewriter and knock out the magazines articles that appear under their names. Few are capable of writing a best-selling book.

In fact, Professor Eugene Jennings, a business scholar and adviser to top executives, commented recently that one item found in most offices, but not in that of the corporate chief executive, is a simple everyday dictionary.

Even the company president's message to shareholders, that staple of every annual report, is likely to have been drafted by a writer assigned to the task. With an eye on history, even corporate memos have been ghost-written.

Measles case diagnosed

By JEFF MADSEN
Campus editor

Dr. William Larsen of the University Health Service announced Monday one Eastern student has been diagnosed with a case of measles, and other students should take precautions against the disease.

"We're not concerned about an epidemic," Larsen said. "If the students have been immunized through their public school systems, there should be no problem."

Larsen said measles is a virus, but cannot be spread through body contact. Students will contract the disease only if they have not been immunized and subsequently are susceptible to the virus.

The student diagnosed with measles has left Eastern to be treated at home, Larsen said.

"Students should check (their immunization records) at home. If they are unsure they've been immunized, or need the vaccine, we have the vaccine available," Larsen said.

"Just one vaccine is supposed to be permanent, but if they received the vaccine before 1969, they should come in for another one," Larsen said.

He added there is no cost to administer the vaccine to students and he prefers students receive the vaccine when a doctor is present at the Health Service (8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.).

BOG's censorship is unnecessary and inconsistent

A car screeches to a halt. Men in pinstriped suits jump out with guns blazing. The excitement is mounting in the vintage "Untouchables" series that has made its mark in television lore. But wait. Charleston residents will not be able to see this action.

The reason is simple. The Board of Governors, who decides funding for WEIU-TV, has said the series puts Italian-Americans in a bad light and displays too much violence. So, they conveniently struck it out of WEIU-TV's programming schedule.

Dominick Bufalino, opposed the series because of "the violence and negative stereotype," a milestone in detective drama will never reach our local station as the BOG has censored WEIU-TV.

Do they believe that adults who watch death and destruction on the evening news can't handle Hollywood violence?

The fact remains that during the time setting of the series, an organization known as the Mafia existed in Chicago and other large cities in the U.S.

But refusing to let the series run will not take away this blemish of the past.

Why a TV station does not have the right to choose its own format poses an interesting question in this situation.

President Stan Rives should be applauded for recommending that funding be allowed for "The Untouchables." At least he was willing to trust the judgment of those in charge of WEIU-TV. Additionally, he is respecting the rights of free speech guaranteed by the Constitution.

The BOG is censoring WEIU-TV. And in this censorship, the BOG is showing a streak of inconsistency within its policy of what it will and will not allow to be ran on the television screens of Eastern.

The University Board and residence halls often run movies such as "Scarface" and the movie "The Untouchables." This inconsistency clearly shows the stupidity of the BOG's decision to censor the crime-drama series.

The BOG would have had no loss in the venture even if Charleston residents opposed the "harsh" series. Money was scheduled to be granted from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting. It is a shame the cost of the series was more than $10,000. Otherwise, the BOG may not have found out the series was running at all because only expenditures more than $10,000 need approval.

Current events worth noticing

Over spring break my grandfather noticed that presently the world is facing more upheaval now than any other era during his lifetime.

In the course of his 86 years there has been plenty of time for all sorts of conflicts, both domestic and international. But now seems to be the worst.

In my youth and naivete I thought sometime during the world wars or the anti-war and Civil Rights movements of 20 years ago would have rivaled today for unrest. But the observations of an avid observer of current events is worth noting.

Maybe it's not the events that have changed all that much. Perhaps the modern media has made war and unrest abroad more noticeable. Rather than having to take the effort to read about a hijacking in Kuwait, the TV thrusts it on us.

Maybe I've just grown used to events that wouldn't have been noticed when grandfather was in college. Sometimes the news seems to repeat itself with all its violence. And for the most part, the detached public grows numb to it all.

In the names of their gods, Iranians and Iraqis float poisonous bombs toward one another. In Israel and Ireland religious fanatics hurl bombs and bullets at each other trying to divide up land they call their own. Such has been the case for hundreds of years.

Lunatic terrorists hijack planes and kill their prisoners in the name of some deity.

Sean O.
Hogan

Everytime I am reminded of South Africa's government oppressing most of its people I feel like there is nothing I can do about it here in the United States. It almost seems strange to think that there is anything that one can do.

But there always some group of activists, seemingly on the fringes, that does try. That's what Amnesty International and Eastern Illinois Students Concerned About Peace is after this weekend.

And probably to the dismay of most of us they are able to advance their cause.

The seemingly lofty ideal of peace doesn't refer to the end to armed conflict alone.

Since Amnesty was founded in 1961 it claims credit for helping to win the freedom for about 25,000 "prisoners of conscience" or people held for political beliefs often without charges, or food or clothing. Last year, letter writing campaigns and visits secured freedom for 150 prisoners from hell-holes from around the world.

Freedom isn't quickly won. But along the way, Amnesty International's efforts bring food and clothing to the prisoners and their families.

As the ideal of peace and freedom should be, the work of AI is above politics. Amnesty International wrote to free American prisoners on death row as well as a current campaign by Eastern's chapter to seek the release of a prisoner held in Peru without charges.

Awareness of a situation is said to be the first step in making changes. The problems exist, but Saturday's Peacefest could make people aware that solutions are available, and progress in human rights can be made.

Students deserve grade in English

Editor:

We are students of English 1000, and we feel that this class should be graded on the work that we are required to do. This would help us on our G.P.A. and in receiving a grade it will give the student an idea on his/her performance. The students deserve a grade due to the hard work and dedication which is put into the class.

We feel that the time that we put into our work should receive some kind of credit if we pass the class. So, if we receive grades in the English 1000 course, students would make even more of an effort to do their best in class. Students in this class do as much work that other students are expected to complete who are taking classes at the freshman/sophomore level.

English 1000 is an excellent course for the problem writer. There are a lot of students that attend Eastern who don't have proper expository writing skills, and with a little help the students could become above average writers. A lot of students are scared their first year in college, and students sometime take on a class that they aren't properly prepared for. Students don't want to feel inferior to other students by taking a pass/fail course their first or second at Eastern.

If English 1000 was a graded course, you wouldn't have students wasting their time in a class that may not be properly prepared for (English 1001). We feel that students would have more determination to do their best if they were given the opportunity to receive a grade for English 1000.

Peacefest '88 will be held Saturday

Editor:

All the signs are around—people wearing shorts, lounging on the quad, playing frisbee—it must be spring. That means it is time for Peacefest '88.

The event will be held this Saturday on the South Quad. It is hosted by Eastern Illinois Students and Community Concerned About Peace and the local chapter of Amnesty International. The festivities begin at noon and include speeches on peace related issues, bands and a few surprises.

We fell this is an excellent opportunity to educate ourselves, promote peace and have fun. We hope to see many on the quad on Saturday. It will be a day well spent.

Sigma Nu to move into a house

By PATRICE HALE
Staff writer

Sigma Nu will finally be moving into their new fraternity house after being homeless since the chapter formed at Eastern in 1985.

"We have been trying to get a house for the last three years, but didn't have a housing corporation and couldn't find a house that we really liked," said junior finance major Kevin Clockskin, one of the founders of the chapter.

Sigma Nu presently has 16 active members, said Clockskin, who is one of the 10 members who will live in the new house starting Aug.

15, 1988.

"I'm really excited about moving into the new house, this will help me to communicate more with my brothers," Clockskin added.

"I think, for the chapter itself, it (the house) will increase communication among the members of the fraternity because we were so spread out, and also it will help the chapter during rush," said Paul Blough, a junior computer management major.

"We are all excited and looking forward to moving in," said junior marketing major Jeff Wade.

"It's going to be great moving in the house, and it's been something we've been looking forward to since we've been chartered here at Eastern," said junior communication major Dave Miller, also a Sigma Nu founder.

Junior Chip Daughtery, a special education major, said, "I'm very excited about having the house because this will help the frat to become more recognized."

Tim Taylor, president and founder of the chapter, said, "I feel great about moving into the house next year. Living in the house will increase the number for the chapter.

Police investigating trio of campus crimes

By JEFF MADSEN

University Police Department is investigating another car burglary in what may be a trio of related burglaries, Chief Tom Larson said Monday.

An AM/FM stereo cassette deck, citizens band radio and one pair of sunglasses, valued together at $325, were stolen early Tuesday morning from a vehicle parked in lot "W", on Fourth Street, west of Lawson Hall. The driver's window was shattered to gain entry to the car, Larson said.

The following day, over $500 in tapes were stolen from a car parked in the same lot.

In addition, a JVC equalizer and $80 worth of tapes were stolen Wednesday from a car parked in lot "J", on Grant Street north of Lantz Gym. The driver's window of that vehicle had also been shattered to gain entry inside the car.

"They could possibly related; we haven't rule that out," Larson said.

All three burglaries are still under investigation and no suspects have been named.

In a separate case, two students reportedly stole a Pagliai's Pizza delivery truck for about an hour and then returned it undamaged early Saturday morning.

The truck had reportedly pulled in front of Carman residence hall about 2 a.m. Saturday to deliver pizzas. A student who works at Pagliai's and lives in Carman told police he had witnessed four white males walk to the truck. Two of them got in the truck and sped out of Carman's parking lot, south on Ninth Street and then west on Taft Avenue.

The door of the truck was unlocked and the keys were in the ignition when the truck was stolen.

The truck was recovered an hour later when the witness and the driver of the truck found the truck parked on campus. No damages were reported.

Ordinances on agenda for meeting

The Charleston City Council will meet at its regular time, 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at 520 Jackson.

Three ordinances are on the agenda for the meeting, one of which concerns authorizing lease-school district.

The council will also discuss several resolutions dealing with budget amendments and the authorizing purchase of equipment for the waste water treatment plant.

Public Works Commissioner Wayne Lanman said the council will also be taking a hard look at Charleston's economy. "The economic development will be discussed. The council will just basically take a look at the economy of the city," Lanman said.

Course aids graduates

By KURT KRUGER
Staff writer

A course designed to prepare potential graduate students for Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT) on June 15 is now open for enrollment.

Al Messenger, Director of Eastern's Regional Business Services, said the course is an excellent way to prepare for the GMAT, which is required for admission to any graduate school at Eastern.

"The preparation course does a good job of preparing the student for the GMAT and the types of questions that are on the test," Messenger said.

Session dates for the preparation course are Saturday, May 28 from 8 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 1:30 - 5 p.m.; Saturday, June 4 from 8 a.m.-12 p.m. and 1 - 5 p.m.; and Saturday, June 11 from 8 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 1:30 - 4 p.m.

Registration forms and further information can be obtained by contacting Dean Dudley, at Blair Hall, Room 101, or Mike Wilson, Coleman Hall, Room 122.

Spill results in evacuation

SAUGET, Ill. (AP)—Life on East St. Louis' south side was back to normal Monday, one day after a chemical spill caused a hydrochloric acid cloud that forced evacuation of hundreds of families for about three hours.

Tom Powell of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency said he and other agency personnel were investigating Sunday's accident at a Monsanto Co. facility in this community just south of the city.

About 300 people were treated for eye irritation and breathing problems at a local hospital, and then released.

The spill occurred about midday, when a railroad tank car being loaded with phosphorous trichloride was overfilled and dumped between 250 and 300 gallons of chemical, Monsanto officials said.

The IEPA's preliminary investigation supported that, said Powell, an emergency-response specialist based in nearby Collinsville.

He said he did not know how long the agency probe would take, and added it was too soon to know whether Monsanto would face any penalties.

When the spilled chemical combined with air, it formed a hydrochloric acid cloud that drifted north, forcing evacuation of hundreds of families on the south side East St. Louis.

Local

act of war," Hockman said.

"He (Reagan) exercised fairly good judgment. We have the right to respond, not only by defending our vessels but defending commerce in the gulf as well.

"The Iranians would be reluctant to continue. I would think they've had enough and would back out. From a military viewpoint, they (Iranians) were extremely foolhardy," Hockman said.

Lawmakers hold two public jobs

SPRINGFIELD, IL. (AP)—The state Constitution bars Illinois lawmakers from drawing paychecks from other government jobs while attending legislative sessions, but one in eight holds a second public post when not in the capital.

Six of Illinois' 59 state senators and 16 of the 118 state representatives supplement their $35,661-a-year legislative salaries with other public payroll jobs that in some cases can double their annual income.

Nearly all of the lawmakers holding an extra public job are from Cook County, including 14 who work for the city of Chicago, its park district, schools or college. All but four are Democrats.

Critics call the practice "double dipping" and say it should be outlawed.

of the congressional leadership were called to the White House Sunday night and briefed on possible actions that might be taken in retaliation for damage suffered by the USS Samuel B. Roberts last week.

U.S. warships began executing Reagan's order by destroying two offshore oil platforms and sank a defending Iranian patrol boat. Iran initially responded by rocketing oil facilities off Sarjah and firing on at least two U.S. vessels.

Also targeted in the Iranian attack were the Scanbay drilling rig, the 112,744-ton British tanker York Marir and a storage facility.

Illinois lawmakers react to gulf

WASHINGTON (AP)—Illinois lawmakers on Monday said U.S. attacks on two Iranian offshore oil platforms were justified, but one lawmaker warned the actions may not prevent Iran from attacking American vessels in the future.

Earlier Monday, U.S. warships destroyed two offshore Iranian oil platforms, sank a defending Iranian patrol boat and bombed an Iranian navy frigate that fired on American vessels elsewhere in the gulf.

The attacks on the platforms followed a mine explosion attributed to Iran last week which injured 10 crewmen aboard a U.S. frigate.

"The actions taken to date by our military in the Persian Gulf constitute a justified response to Iran's provocation," said Rep. Lynn Martin, R-Ill. "The United States is not initiating engagement with the Iranians, but we will not run from it."

Iran and Iraq have been at war since 1980, and the fighting has produced repeated attacks on ships not involved in the conflict, prompting the United States to provide naval escorts for their protection.

"Any time the Iranians decide they're going to get back in the attacking of innocent vessels by mining and other attempts in international waters, then they get whatever they deserve," said Rep. Jack Davis, R-Ill., who along with Mr. Martin serves on the House Armed Services Committee.

"If we pull out of there now, where do you draw the lines% in the Hudson River% In the Gulf of Mexico%" he asked. "This is what it's all about."

Democratic Rep. Lane Evans, a frequent critic of U.S. military involvement abroad, called the action "a measured and appropriate response."

Court hears arguments on abortion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church's tax-exempt status gives it an unfair advantage in the political battle over abortion, the Supreme Court was told Monday.

The court was urged by a "pro-choice" coalition to keep an 8-year-old lawsuit that seeks to strip the church of its exemption because of its abortion lobbying.

The suit is against the federal government, not the church.

The justices are being asked to decide whether the suit can move forward—not whether the church's tax exemption should be revoked. A decision is expected to be announced by June.

If the suit against the government is kept alive, the church faces $100,000 a day in penalties for its refusal to provide documents sought by the coalition.

Foreign studies possible

By JANE CLARK
Staff writer

Going to school overseas is not a realistic possibility for most students, but a scholarship currently being offered at Eastern may give some the opportunity to do so.

The Fulbright Scholarship gives students the opportunity to continue their education in a foreign setting after the completion of undergraduate work.

Wolfgang Schlauch, EIU Fulbright adviser, said the scholarships are awarded to students who have a strong background in both written and oral communication in the language of the country they are applying to.

Recipients receive stipends for round trip transportation, tuition, books and maintenance money for one school year.

"It is really an ideal situation because everything is paid for," Schlauch said.

To apply, students must be in their junior or senior year, or graduate students. Applicants are required to submit an application form, several letters of reference and an idea for a study program to be worked on during their stay in the host nation.

After submission, the applications are turned over to a committee composed of five Eastern faculty members who then evaluate them and decide which are to be submitted to the National Fulbright Committee, where they are then evaluated and winners chosen.

Jazz artists praise Eastern's group

By WENDELL BANKS
Staff writer

Eastern's Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of associate music professor Allan Horney, recently won the acclaim of six professional jazz artists judging 30th Annual Collegiate Jazz Festival April 8-9 at Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind.

Eastern was one of only 17 ensembles from 13 schools invited to the competition, and also was one of only five ensembles to receive the "Outstanding Performance" commendation.

In addition, Eastern tied with Northern Illinois for the most individual performer awards. Cited for outstanding performance from Eastern were: drummer Kevin Hart, trombonist Carl Hose, pianist

Mark Maegdlin and bassist Jon Schwabe.

"This is the second time Eastern has been invited, once in 1977, and this year," Horney said. "There are a large number of schools who send in audition tapes, but only an elite are chosen."

Other groups selected for acclaim were Western Michigan University, Purdue, Northern Illinois, and William Patterson College in New Jersey.

Other schools invited to participate in this widely acclaimed festival included: Aquinas College, California Arts Institute, Central Michigan, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Michigan State, Notre Dame, Ohio State University and the University of Michigan.

Spikers win spring tourney

By JAMES BETZOLD
Associate sports editor

Eastern's volleyball team sought its own level and reached it.

The Lady Panthers beat Southern Indiana (15-5, 15-4), Evansville (15-6, 15-9) and Western Kentucky (15-10, 15-7) on Saturday in Evansville to raise their record to 12-5 in the spring exhibition season.

"They played very well," Eastern Coach Betty Ralston said. "A lot of times when you play a team weaker than you, you play down to their level. This was the first time (this spring) we dominated a team."

Ralston said the Lady Panthers have been hampered during the spring because some players have been unable to attend all the workouts.

"The biggest problem is that we haven't had everybody at practices because of classes," Ralston said.

Hitters Laura Bruce, Gianna Galanti and Gina Knoke, all seniors-to-be, have missed practices because of conflicting class schedules, Ralston said.

"A lot of the younger kids have advanced," Ralston said.

Sophomore Ann Ruef, who saw limited action until late last season, has benefited from increased playing time this spring.

"Ann Ruef has done really well coming in as a middle (hitter)," Ralston said. "She's come on as a real strong hitter and blocker."

In addition, competition has begun to replace setter Jeanne Pacione, who finished her career last fall as Eastern's all-time assist leader.

"The biggest question mark is setting," Ralston said.

"I'm just waiting to see if one emerges over the other," Ralston said. "We'll probably give one person the nod as far as being No. 1 for the spring."

Ralston said it would be best to have one setter who the Lady Panther hitters could become accustomed to.

Panthers 4th at Vincennes golf tourney

By MIKE FITZGERALD
Sports editor

Eastern golfer Todd Bittle shot a 77 this past weekend and was the medalist in the Vincennes University Invitational Tournament held at Elks Country Club in Vincennes, Ind.

The Panthers finished fourth with a 332, while the host Trailblazers won the 18-hole tourney by shooting 316. Lincoln Trail took second place with a 319, and Evansville finished third with a 326.

The University of Southern Indiana also shot a 332, but the Panthers' fifth man, Scott Dessing, shot a 91 to propel Eastern into the fourth slot.

John Varner recorded an 80, Jeff Schaefer had an 86 and Dale Carlson finished with an 89 for the Panthers.

Coach Paul Lueken said the competition in the tournament wasn't as tough as the Panthers had faced in previous outings, and thought that Eastern should have shot better.

"If we played up to our potential we could have won," Lueken said.

Lueken noted, however, the conditions the teams played under were difficult, citing the thickness of the rough as an example.

The Panthers return to action on Thursday, traveling to Taylorville for the Millikin University Big Blue Classic at the Lake Shore Golf Club. Eastern will also play in the Illinois State Redbird Invitational on Sunday and Monday in Normal.

Panthers host Illini in single game

Eastern bats need to rattle against Illini

By JAMES BETZOLD
Associate sports editor

Eastern's baseball Panthers will have to get some hits to drop if they want to drop Illinois Tuesday at Monier Field.

"We've got to hit better," Eastern Coach Tom "Skip" McDevitt said. "You can't hit under .200 and win."

The Panthers (10-16) hit .180 when they were swept in all four games Saturday and Sunday by Southwest Missouri State.

"We hit the ball hard a time or two, but it just wasn't there," McDevitt said.

To add to the Panthers' hard-luck hitting, junior third baseman Stan Royer had long fly balls knocked down by a south wind on Sunday. McDevitt said both balls would have probably been home runs on a normal day.

avenge a 7-6 loss to the Illini on April 5 in Champaign, when Illinois battled back from a four-run deficit with the help of two unearned runs to win the game.

"Illinois is just another ballclub," McDevitt said. "(But) they execute well. They bunt when they have to bunt. They don't make mistakes."

McDevitt said senior right-hander Mike DiBenedetto (2-0, 3.46 ERA) will start for the Panthers.

DiBenedetto pitched 4-1/3 shutout innings in relief on Saturday, allowing only one hit and two walks.

"He did a fine job," McDevitt said. "It was his best job ever here at Eastern."

Lady Panthers on road to meet No. 10 Indiana

By MIKE FITZGERALD
Sports editor

Non-conference games are usually a welcome break from the rigors of a grueling conference schedule, but that's not the case for Eastern's softball team.

The Panthers, will travel to Bloomington, Ind., Tuesday for a doubleheader against the No. 10 Indiana University Hoosiers.

Eastern, 18-11, hopes its contests with Indiana, 24-15, will prepare the Panthers for the grind awaiting them when the second half of the conference season begins Friday.

"Somehow we always seem to play good against the good teams," said Coach Janet Marquis. "And we need to—a sweep against this team would be great."

The Hoosiers took a pair of games from Eastern last season, using their team speed and bunt singles to win 7-1 and 3-1.

This season Indiana has used a combination of power and speed to win, although the Hoosiers haven't been doing it as of late, having dropped four in a row to Big Ten rival Minnesota last weekend.

Speed has not played a big factor in deciding the outcome of Eastern games as opponents have only attempted 17 steals and stolen only eight bases against the Panthers.

Marquis thinks the games will be decided by defense, which might not favor Eastern, squad that has had its share of defensive troubles as of late.

"The mistakes are non-concentrating mistakes, but our mistakes tend to lessen when we play tougher teams," Marquis said.

Indiana will be carrying some big bats onto the field led by Tammy Connor, who is hitting .321, and who gave the Panthers problems in last season's meeting with her speed.

Following Connor in the hit parade is Pam Kim with a .305 average and 18 stolen bases. Kim Pown is hitting .293 and cleanup hitter Marjie Ledgerwood leads Indiana with 21 runs batted in.

The Hoosiers have four pitchers with which to test Eastern, but Marquis said it won't matter who they throw if the Panthers bats are hot.

Second baseman Lynn Ramsay has supplanted first baseman Carrie Voisin for the team lead in hitting. Ramsay raised her average 16 points and has a .231 average while Voisin saw her average drop 43 points over the weekend to .303.

Freeman hungry for victory

By AL LAGATTOLLA
Staff writer

With the AMCU-8 Championships looming on the horizon just two weeks away, the Eastern men's tennis team will face DePauw University Tuesday at Greencastle, Ind.

The Panthers, owners of a 7-9 record, are coming off a weekend in which they split two meets.

The Panthers lost to Pricipia College and defeated the University Missouri-St. Louis.

"The loss will help us as a team," said sophomore Bob Myrvold. "We can learn from our losses."

Myrvold and senior Keith Hansel are the co-owners of a 10-6 doubles record, the best on a team which prides itself on good doubles teams.

The Panthers have said all season if it comes down to doubles, they are in good shape to win any meet. However, when Eastern had a chance to prove its theory against Bradley earlier this season, it lost all three doubles matches and the meet. Yet Myrvold still maintains the Panthers' doubles game is its strength.

"When we blew it at Bradley, we learned," said Myrvold.

Despite their losing record, the Panthers have had a relatively prosperous season, winning almost twice as many matches as last spring.

But one Panther who has had a long season is No. 1 singles player Stan Freeman, who has won only two matches all spring.

"I'm kind of in a slump," Freeman said. "I'd like to get over that slump."

"It's been a pretty tough season for me, losing six close matches," said Freeman, a senior.

Despite the hard times, Freeman's teammates have not yet lost confidence in their captain.

"Stan has played real well, even though he has lost," said Hansel. "I still have confidence in him; all he needs is that one close win."

And there could not be a better time than Tuesday for Freeman to earn a close victory.

"We need to peak now," said Hansel, aware of the impending conference championships April 29-30 at Valparaiso, Ind.
